FROM THE EDITOR

To the Class of 1999:

It was a pleasure to have had the opportunity to be the editor of this yearbook and a member of the graduating class.

During my years at Bloomfield College, I had the honor of meeting and working with many of you. We struggled throught he classes and the hard exams together, yet we managed to survive!

As this yearbook's theme says: "Step by step, day by day, we made it . . . ."

The steps were steep, the days were longer than ever, and many sacrifices had to be made.

On the 27th of May, 1999, we had the chance to celebrate our success.

I want to personally congratulate each ane every one of the graduates on a job well done! I know that, for many, this is just the beginning: Whether you choose to go to grad school or enter the business world right after graduation, I wish you all the best of luck as you step into the new millennium.

Bonne chance!

Office of the President

Dear Class of 1999:

Congratulations on your achievement. You have worked hard to earn your degree, and I am proud to welcome you to Bloomfield College's talented and growing alumni family.

You leave with knowledge, skills and values that will serve you in any field you pursue. I know that you will use your Bloomfield College education to make choices that do not blind you to the needs of others.

Please stay in touch with us. Let us know where you are and what you are doing. We expect great things from you.

Sincerely,

John F. Noonan

DEDICATION

In Memoriam
Prof. Martin Kellman
Humanities

Note: We had already dedicated this yearbook to Professor Kellman. It was therefore with great sadness that we learned of his passing in September 1999. But it gives us great joy to honor his memory with this yearbook.

Professor Martin Kellman joined the Bloomfield College community in 1975 as a Professor of English. In his 24 years here, he was an outstanding asset to the college. Prof. Kellman has been the chair of the General Education Committee and was instrumental in successfully inaugurating the college's new program. He was also elected President of the Bloomfield College Chapter of the American Association of University Professors.

Prof. Kellman was born in New York. He received his bachelor's degree from Brooklyn College and his PhD from the University of Pennsylvania.

Kellman has published many literary works, including a literary overview, T.H.White and a Matter of Britain and The Motley Fool.

Prof. Kellman was awarded the chance to present his work at the Twentieth Century Literature Conference at the University of Louisville. He also was selected for two National Endowment for the Humanities Summer Seminars.

Despite illness and disability, Prof. Kellman continued to accomplish a great deal. His dedication to his work — as well as to his students — was exemplified by his regular commute from Pennsylvania to Bloomfield. "Determination" and "tenacity" were words that one regularly heard in connection with Prof. Kellman.

Kellman was also known for his sense of humor and his enjoyment of hockey.

Above all, he was highly regarded — and loved — by faculty and students alike. We understand that students were apt to turn to him for help when they had a problem.

Students who took his classes or worked with him called him "professor, boss, mentor, and friend."

We dedicate the 1999 Saga to you, Martin Kellman, as a small — but heartfelt — tribute. Thank you for everything.

Unfortunately, Prof. Kellman passed away in September of 1999. We're still cheering for you!

STEP BY STEP

Professors,
Classmates,
Exams . . .Oh, boy!

Books,
Pencils,
Stress . . . Oh, my!

It began with quiet thoughts in a crowded room.
The music of your fingertips drumming on the table.
The awkward peeks through the glass windows of the doors, Entering an unfamiliar room.

These are your first fond memories.

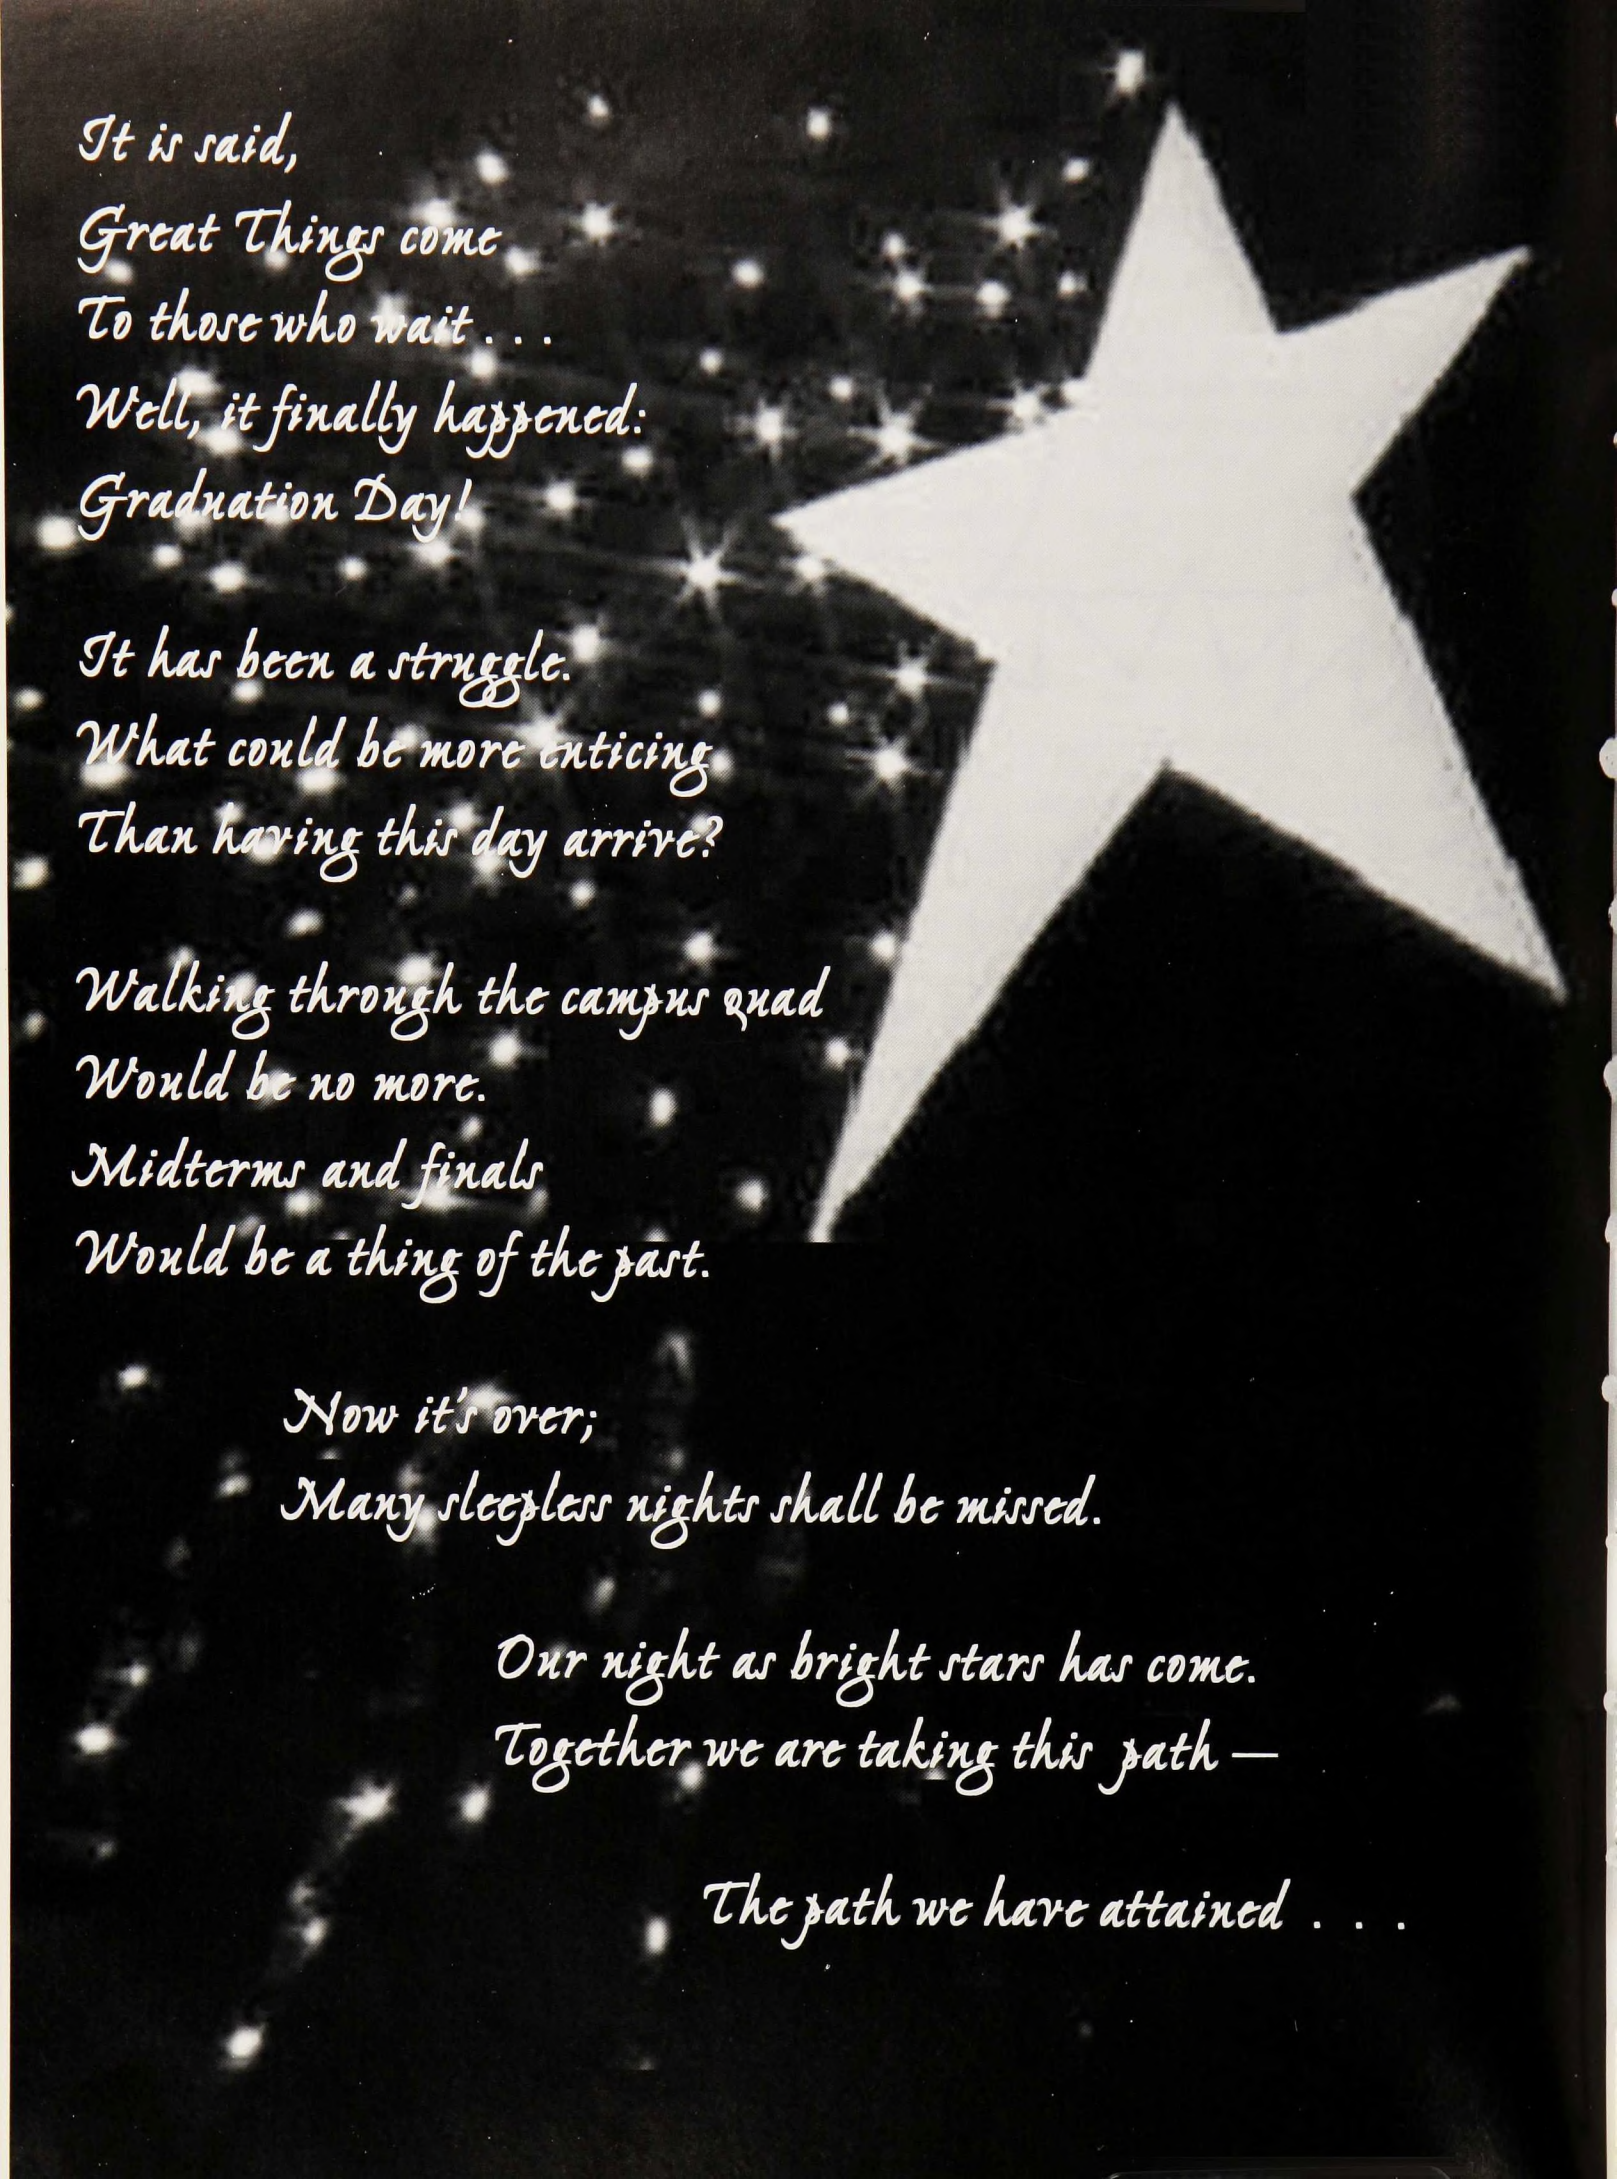
My family...I wish you nothing but success. Desti... I will always be true to you... The white and baby blue.

To: Lambda Sigma Upsilon Latino Fraternity, Inc. — Intocables....we have come a long way.... Hermanos stay true to the baby blue....be nice to the girls....Love you.

From: Bonnie Gustafsson, Yearbook Advisor
To: Class of 1999 — especially to those I've come to know and love.
May love and success follow you wherever you go.
You taught me so much more than I taught you!

From: Awilda Hernandez
To: My daughter, Alyssa Brianna Sherman — I love you and want you to know all is possible and everything can be yours with hope and patience.

To: My Mother — I love you and thank you for always being there for me; without you I know it would have been hard.



It is said,
Great Things come
To those who wait . . .
Well, it finally happened:
Graduation Day!

It has been a struggle.
What could be more enticing
Than having this day arrive?

Walking through the campus quad
Would be no more.
Midterms and finals
Would be a thing of the past.

Now it's over;
Many sleepless nights shall be missed.

Our night as bright stars has come.
Together we are taking this path —

The path we have attained . . .

WE MADE IT!

We have jumped over
One more hurdle of the Race of life.

We practiced extensively
Running toward the Finish line.

We kept our focus on the prize.

We made it.

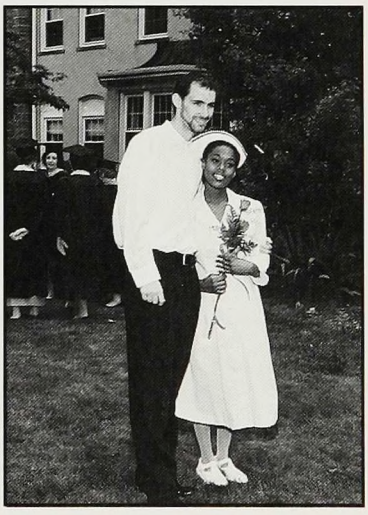
NURSES' PINNING



Professional Nurses' Pledge
Class of 1999

We solemnly swear to uphold the standards of professional nursing without regard to race, creed, color, class, or personal beliefs of our clients.

We promise to keep our knowledge current and to practice nursing holistically as we promote health for the individuals, families, and communities in which we work. We realize that we will face progressive challenges by the health-care industry. We will focus on developing innovative ways to maintain nursing standards in the midst of change.

As we enter the new millennium, we affirm our commitment to excellence in the professional practice of nursing. We dedicate ourselves to this pursuit with God as our guide and source of strength.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE CLASS OF 1999

We're proud of you!

George P. Lynes, II
Dean of Admission

You brought commitment and enthusiasm.
You balanced learning
with life's demands.
You mastered the competencies.
And all of this in a diverse environment
that mirrors our world.
What else do you need to lead?

Go for it, Class of 1999!
Remember Bloomfield College always.
